The 6th International Symposium on the East Asian Environmental Problems

Organized by

Research Institute for East Asia Environments,
Kyushu University

November 6-7, 2012

@Inamori Center,
Kyushu University, Fukuoka, Japan

Call for Papers

The East Asia countries, especially China, have been achieving rapid economic progress. However, this progress inevitably accompanies serious environmental repercussions. Environmental issues have no national boundaries. What is important is not to look on our neighbors' misfortunes with indifference, but to maintain the reciprocal relationship. It is also of urgent matter that the scientists of East Asia countries including China, Korea and Japan cooperate and find comprehensive solutions for these environmental issues.

We would like you to participate in the 6th international symposium on the East Asian Environmental Problems, which will be held on November 6-7 in Fukuoka. This symposium presents scientific knowledge, technologies, and environmental issues. Topics of major interests are listed below:

1. Urban environment
2. Low carbon society
3. Food risk and assessment
4. Aqueous environment and hydrology
5. Combating Desertification
6. Agro-production Environment
7. Atmospheric environment
8. Marine environment
9. Environmental chemistry
10. Environmental planning and management

Please submit your abstract electronically to the symposium secretariat below. After the receipt in your abstract, we will send a guideline of full-text paper for the proceedings of EAEP 2012.

For those who submit abstracts and papers, Registration Form should be sent in advance to Secretariat via e-mail or FAX by 11th June 2012.

Also we are welcome to have the participants on the day.
